John then tells of the way he worried Peter and Felix for money until finally he determined to botray them for the Bulletin's reward.

Here is the nub of his confession:
"The money for these 'jobe' came to Peter from Felix, who said that he got it from Abe Ruef. I understand that Ruef got it from Patrick Calhoun and Louis Glass. Peter aiso told me that Felix had 'doped it up' to get all the graft prosecution fellows—Spreck-ela, Heney and Burns. Spreckels was to have been dynamited after his gardener had been filled full of hquor. Heney was to 'jet his' with a slung-shot, It was planned also to blow up the Claus Spreckels building. The scheme was to get all of the graft prosecution out of the road."

POLICE DON'T CREDIT IT. POLICE DON'T CREDIT IT.

This is a fair summary of an obvious fake.

Chief of Police Peterson of Oakland, who examined John Claudianes, says the Greek knows nothing personally of the surroundings of the houses dynamited and that he believes Claudianes made the story out of whole cloth to get the reward. Langdon has swallowed the whole yarn and declares when he can catch Peter and Felix he will have the entire story and will then be able to land the "higher-ups" in his net.

Discussing the question of immigration, the President declared that the American people have a right to say who shall come and dwell among them. "It is our duty," he declared, "to exercise that right in a way calculated to provoke the least friction. If we choose to say who shall come however, we must be in trim to uphold that right in case anybody challenges it."

QUEBEC, July 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Prince of Wales, the man who is to be King of England some day, landed on Canadian soil this evening, and was given a reception glittering in, its picturesque pageantry, but only formal in its cordiality. The fire of enthusiasm, the demonstrations of passionate devotion were not in the cheers of the crowds.

It was purely a spectacular play, but no other spot in America could furnish for it so magnificent a stage setting as Quebec. This is how the central royal figure of it all appeared, how he acted, what he did and what he said:

said:

A thin figure, without muscle and brawn, four inches under height of the six-footers around him, a uniform of forgeous array to conceal the slight physique, a beard of heavy hair to cover the lower part of the face, particularly the weak chin; nervous hands covered with white kid gloves; a small head under an enormous navaj chapeau and what were the surrounding contrasts to this royal Prince?

First a great big cruiser the Indomitable, that brought him across the deean; a giant among warships, typical of all the power and majesty of Britain.

But when we do go to war that war is only excusable if the navy is prepared to hammer its opponent until he is through fighting. And you can't hammer your opponent if you wait for him to come to the coast and hammer you first. For the protection of our coasts we need fortifications so that the navy may be left free to stretch out and destroy the enemy. That is its function."

FOR DIVORCE AT RENO.

Mrs. Bothern's Attorney Bays She Is not in Nevada and Intimates That Complaint May Allege That Acts as Named Were Committed In State.

RENO, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) E. H. Sothern, through his attorneys here, filed a demurrer to his wife's suit for divorce this morning. The papers, like Mrs. Sothern's complaint, are under seal, and no one connected with the case will tell along what lines the proceedings will be carried in court. The case will come to trial without delay now. It has been set for hearing for the first of next week. At that time it will be set for trial during the present term of court. Judge Massey, Mrs. Sothern's attorney, gave out the interesting part of the proceedings this eventing. "Mrs. Sothern is not here." said Massey. "What is more, she has not been here and has not established a residence in Nevada. However, it is possible there are grounds upon which she may secure a divorce here and still not be compelled to live in the State."

It is just given out that the law does not require Mrs. Sothern to establish a residence here. All that is necessary is that acts alleged must have been committed in Nevada and service of the complaint be secured in this State.

Rachin Khan, the commander of the Bhah's troops, brought in some men late last night to help the royalists in the city and followed up his success today, desultory fighting continuing for many hours.

The anti-royalists are as depressed today as they were jubilant yesterday. Communications in many places have been cut. The Times correspondent describes Rachin Khan as playing the part of the sulking Achilles in his tent, during the three days ending Monday.

WINE GROWERS PROTECT TRADE

Association Formed to Combat Prohibition.

Assessment Levied Against Vineyard Acreage.

Urge Congress to Maintain Present Tariff.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—To protect their industry from attacks and legislation by the prohibition movement, and to further develop the market for wine and increase the consumption of that beverage, about 100 grape growers of the various counties of California met today in this city and organized the Grape Growers' Association of California. A motion was passed to assess every grape grower on a basis of twenty-five cents per acre of his vineyard. It was also suggested that an involuntary alliance be formed between growers and wine makers whereby vineyardists who have not paid the assessment will be prevented from selling their grapes and wine makers who do not aid the movement will be unable to buy of growers.

The only question causing a differ-ment will be unable to buy of growera.

The only question causing a difference of opinion was the clause in the original resolutions referring to the case of wines containing less than 13 per cent. of alcohol. It was pointed out that the Congressional Committee had declared that wines with less than 13 per cent. were not intoxicating.
Percy T. Morgan of the California
Wipe Association held that the paragraph in question would exclude sweet wine makers from the meeting, and it was finally stricken from the resolution.

Government Will Place Memorial to Author of "Star Spangled Banner" at Ft. McHenry.

[ABSOCIATED PRESS DAT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—Bids will be invited on Monday by the quartermasters' department of the Department of the East, U.S.A., for the constructing of two memorial tablets, one of which is of special interest to civilians. This is to be placed on the flagstaff at Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, and will commemorate the fact, that Francis Scott Key was inspired by a view of the flag flying there to write "The Star Spangled Banner," during the British attack in 1814.

The tablet, which is to be about five feet long and half as broad, in the shape of a shield, must be according to the stipulation of the contract, "of the best quality of statuary bronze, without artificial finish"

The same conditions are made for the manufacture of the other tablet.

The death struggle of horse-race pambling in California has begun. Tom Williams, the recognized political leader of the racing interests on this Coast, has been in Los Angeles for several days, interviewing local members of the State Legislature; also those who seem to be in imminent period going to Sacramento after the fail elections. On the other hand, the superintendent of the State Anti-Saloon League. Dr. E. S. Chapman, yesterday announced his intention of taking the field against the race tracks. Dr. Chapman says he will endeavor to have every candidate for the Legislature declare himself in plain terms, before election day.

The struggle between these two picturesque characters will be a chapter in the political history of this State. The forces back of them—the vank and file of the opposing armies—make a

In the political history of this State. The forces back of them—the vank and file of the opposing armies—make a dramatic contrast.

It is an open secret that one of the principal obstacles in the path of reforming the rotten racing evil is the fact that Rudolph Spreckels, the "Stareyed Goddess of Reform" in San Francisco, owns a big racing stable at the Emeryville track. It is conducted for him by a gent of the classic name of "Butch" Covington, hired from the stables of Barney Schreiber, one of the directors of Sanney Schreiber, one of the directors of Sanney Schreiber, one of the directors of Sanney Schreiber, one of the holding off the crack of doom for one not be season of the Legislature. Williams is making a tour of the State for this desperate purpose.

CHANGE OF SENTIMENT.

CHANGE OF SENTIMENT. There has been a great change of sentiment since the Eshleman bill came before the State Legislature two years stated yesterday that he will vote and work in every way to stop horse-race gambling in this State. He says that he knows of an anti-acing bill that is to be presented. McCartney's political friends state that he probably will present one himself.

E. J. Fleming, until recently a deputy District Attorney, and one of the best type of organization men, has sounded the keynote of the Republican position in his recent speeches against the continuance of the race-track crime foundry.

SPRECKELS'S STABLES.

SPRECKELS'S STABLES.

It is hard to say how much the Lincoin-Roosevelt League will be influenced by the fact that their leader and boss. Mr. Spreckels, is one of the participators in the racing.

During the graft trials, while his hired man, Heney, yelled about the evils of gambling in court. Spreckels's race horses were helping to separate the guileless from their dough.

In the middle of one of the last graft trials, "Butch" Covington, Rudolph's trainer, kindly passed out a wise tip to one of the attorneys opposing the graft prosecution. The lawyer left the court and sprinted over to Emeryville with his coat-tails streaming straight out in the breeze. He won $500 on Rudolph's horse and then came back. Spreckels races his horses under the name of the "Sobra Vista Stables." His principal horses are Borghesi. Il Tremor. San Alviso. St. Elmwood. San Olmo, Sachet, Milpitas, Scamper, Uictma. St. Elmwood is now running in Seattle.

Attorney Bennett made the investigation at the instance of the State Board, which had received complaints. Though the sanatorium had been in existence since 1906, it had not attracted attention to its true character, and even yesterday, when Bennett interrogated George B. de Sellem, the business manager, he could find very litte as to the character or extent of its operations. He did find that the hast year.

A baby girl was born in a courtroom in Chicago, se serious responsibility of preventing her from coming a lawyer when she grows up now de-lves on her parents.

If Mr. Taft would simply write a letter saying that he accepts the nomination with thanks, he would probably make the biggest hit ever made by a candidate for the office.

The campaign committees will find that the ordinary American patriot vastly prefers to contribute his share of cheers to the cause than to contribute a dollar to the campaign fund.

Young Kingdon Gould is coming West to pros-pect for mines. If he will spend a few days in Los Angeles there are several promoters here who can put him next to good things.

Mr. Bryan continues to be the same thrifty soul as of old. He now spends portions of his time talking into phonographs, the records of which will doubtless produce large royalties.

You will notice that the newspapers of the United States are getting into closer touch with the news in South America. In other words, we are rapidly becoming more like neighbors.

has been raised against them, whether popular clamor or political menace.

It is a happy thing for us that this reign of hostile projudice against men merely because they are rich, and against corporations which are created by law is coming to an end. The bloodthirsty, blatant, law-defying, political prosecutor, in the pay of some schemer with an ax to grind, is a menace to society. He is an infamous prosecutor who will take unfair advantage of men in his power (who are presumed to be innocent till found guilty,) and who would obtain a conviction by illegal means. Give every man his due. Punish all wrongdoers in due proportion to their offenses. Let all be done in accord with the just laws of the nation and of the several States. Jüdges should be, above all things, fair and dispassionate, calm, collected, weighing well all the circumstances in the case, and always avoiding excessive penalties if they would have their judgments upheld by higher courts and approved by the people, who in the long run, will ask only for justice and will stand for nothing else.

The Taft idea of "safe government" is the right one—and, thank God, we still have independent courts to uphold it! The courts of law in California have shown the same courage and acumen that we now see in the Federal Court for this Illinois district—resisting like the granite of the everlasting hills all assaults of commercial malice and political clamor. Law still reigns over us, and so long as it shall reign over us the humblest and weakest of us will be safe. The little hour of the political bloodhound prosecutor, his red chops thirsting for vengeance and his big stick sweeping law aside; the little hour of the political bloodhound prosecutor, his red chops thirsting for vengeance and his big stick sweeping law aside; the

And do you take due note of the immediate effect of the reversal of the Landis decision in lifting up the markets and boosting prosperity?

Dr. Woods Hutchison says every middle-aged man should read plenty of good poetry. The Times came to this conclusion long ago, and every Sun-day has a department of poetry, which gives to young and old the best dreams of the dreamers.

It will be a surprise to most people to learn that twenty-five men control the yellow pine trade of the world. Talk about moguls. You can't strike a match or be buried in a coffin without paying tribute to this combination.

Is it because men do so much shouting during political campaigns that they think they need a drink so often?

This prophetic cry was called out by an agonized reader of the Examiner, who objected to the examples of art put forth in that paper. He said he didn't believe that girls ever had weather-beaten moss on their heads instead of hair. He said it wasn't natural for girls to be nine feet high, and for their skirts always to be in a furious wind.

for their skirts always to be in a furious wind. The Hearst paper retorted with dignity, solemn prophecy and wisdom.

"Nell Brinkley isn't natural," said the Examiner, firmly. "She is better than natural." (Nell Brinkley is the misguided young person who draws the moss-covered maidens.)

Having thus thrust Nature severely back into the king row, the Examiner thus rushes on with the ardent and serjous fervor of the zealot:
"Nell Brinkley, Raphsel, Gibson, Michaelangelo, Tad, Boucher, Powers, Phidias and Swinnerton all help us to get away from that which is natural."
"Tad" and Phidias! Hearst and Socrates! Good! And by all means away from the real and the normal!

With extreme distance from the natural as a criterion, Nell Brinkley, with her moss-covered maidens, and "Tad" have the old masters beaten.

There is a sort of classic simplicity to Signor, Dorgan's buildogs, which are made with a circle for the head, and another circle for the body.

If but four little words were added to one of these works of art, it would recall to our tender mem-ories the dear dead past and the little red schoolories the dear dead past and the little red schoolhouse and a piece of stolen chalk and the back fence; these words are: "This is a dog."

As to Miss Brinkley's mossy maidens, we are speechless from gallantry, because the Examiner insists upon it that Miss Brinkley's own tresses are mossy and blow in a perpetual wind.

"Miss Brinkley," pursues the Examiner, hotly,
"pictures chiefly hair. Miss Brinkley, curiously enough, at the first superficial glanse, is chiefly hair—certainly she wears not less than a bushel of the very lightest and curilest kind."

We are sorry for Miss Brinkley; we hesitate to the very lightest and curliest kind."

We are sorry for Miss Brinkley; we hesitate to go further. If, however, there is anything calculated to give artistic regeneration to Miss Brinkley's amazing creations, we think it would be having a bushel of moss, even of the lightest and curliest kind, waving from the scalp.

On further consideration of the subject, however, the Brankley amarently feels dissatisfied with its con further consideration of the subject, however, the Examiner apparently feels dissatisfied with its newly-born hall of fame. It abruptly revises the list half way down the column, thus:

"Nell Brinkley, Titians Tad, Praxiteles, Gibson, Betticelli, Powers and Leonardo can express only things which are actully in them."

This is not only indefinite, but somewhat alarming. And we would like to know why Michaelaning. And we would like to know why Michaelaning. And we would like to know why Michaelaning. Opper, who draws men with big stomachs and large cars when he intends to be humorous, and very large men with very large cars when he is sure he is being humorous, is carelessly thrown in later as an afterthought, but is not compared to any old master at all.

Merely to show that we, too, have souls for art, we would like to compare Opper with that oldest master of all—he who engraved bristly-mammoths and hair-line heroes on a bit of bone with the tusk of the saber-toothed tiger. The simflarity seems to us marked.

At any rate, the public will undoubtedly be convinced by this fervent cry, and Mr. Hearst will be enabled to cut down the expenses of his local art staff and use second-hand Brinkleys and "Tad" bulldogs hashed out from his eastern papera. Which will help the famished Hearst pocketbook a little.

So down with Michaelangelo's "Moses" and up with "Bunk," the bulldog, and "Maud," the kicking mule. At any rate, the public will undoubtedly be Art moves forward.

It is a strange fact that pulpits deplors the change of view among the people which makes it no longer necessary for a preacher to deliver more than two thirty-minute sermons once a week.

MERICA AND THE POTTERS.
The death of Bishop Henry Codman
W York is provocative of reminiscences incident ended.

If John F. Potter was like his father or his uncle, Horatio, in figure, he certainly would have had a great advantage over the somewhat rotund Virginia Congressman. Paraclyte and Horatio Potter were each a good deal over six feet in stature, and as thin as laths. They were long of limb, whereas Pryor was rather short. In the dark the advantage of slats against adipose would have been great.

When the two Potters were exalted to be prelates over the two great States, their diocesses were conterminous with the States. After fifty years, and at the death of Henry C. Potter, son of Alonzo, and nephew of Horatio, there are three, if not four, diocesses in Pennsylvania and five in New York.

In those early days, even earlier than those re-nephew of Horatio, there are three, if not four, access in Pennsylvania and five in New York.

In those early days, even earlier than those referred to here, another Dutchess county family, farmers, too, and neighbors of the Potters, gave a prelate to the Episcopal church. This was Bishop Kemper, the first missionary bishop of the church in this country. His home was first at St. Louis, Chicago being non-existent. He afterward made his home in Waukesha county, Wisconsin, and his diocese embraced all west of Ohio to the Pacific Ocean, and from the Ohio River to Canada. In this territory today the Episcopal church has probably twenty-five bishops. The State of New York, and the city, now the great metropolis of the American continent, and Pennsylvania, with its various and great industries, are typical of the mighty growth the United Stateshas made in half a century. But the great Northwest, with its empire commonwealths and many mighty cities, is still a better index of the progress of this country.

The Civil War, with all its mighty struggles, is gone; the Union is cemented forever; no scenes like those between Brooks and Sumner, Brooks and Grow, or Pryor and Potter diagrace Congress in our time.

Among Americans, Bishop Henry Codman Potter, granden and a New York farmer, stands present.

Among Americans, Bishop Henry Codman Potter, grandson of a New York farmer, stands preëminent for his fine character. More than forty years ago the writer, in a railroad car, heard the late Senator Carpenter of Wisconsin and Mr. Thompson, the pioneer railroad builder of that State, say to each other, as Bishop Kemper got on the train at a little station out in the wilderness: "There is the man who has done most of us all for the Northwest, and whose work has been the most successful."

For broad-minded views, for tolerance of the opinions of others, for courage in maintaining what he conceived to be fundamental principles, and

INGERIE DRESSES

Lingerie Dresses of this character are in perfect taste for almost any sort of an occasion where you may choose to wear them. And you may save half and more on any of them now.

Princess styles are preferred by many women on account of their "handiness"—no belts to bother over, or waists to be fastened down; here they are, made of sheer white Persian lawns of excellent quality, plentifully lace trimmed in back as well as front.

And two-piece models are here, also; some of fine linens, embroidered by hand; you couldn't buy the materials and have them made up for anything like the price we offer these for now; models worth between $10 and $17.50, for $5.00.

Lingerie and Tailored Waists $3.50 Good $4.00 and $5.00 Values

We could just as easily get five dollars aplece for these handsome walsts as we can obtain $3.50; they came to us under value, and they go out at the same saving:

Both dainty lingerie models, outing styles in linen, with low roll collars, with tan, blue and lavence trimmings and a few strictly tailored styles to select from; the lingerie waists have deep fancy yokes of Valenciennes insertion and edging, both white and ecru; short sieeves, trimmed in like manner; but-toned backs; yours at $3.50.

MAKES WAR ON "BUGS."

Eminent Entomologist Begins Impor-tant Work at Whittier in the Interest of Fruit Growers.

doctor," but that does not make his services any the less valuable. The well-informed already know how many brilliant victories these scientific "bug doctors" have achieved in the interest of sgriculture.

Prof. Quayle is a national authority on all sorts of insect peats, those tiny bugs that eat up the grower's profits. One of the wonders of latter-day science is this novel 'bug doctoring." and Prof. Quayle has a wide reputation in this difficult profession. He has had notable successes.

Sometimes he kills the pest outright by fumigation, or other harsh treatment, again, is obliged to resort to a "prescription" that is ingenious in its devility. That is to say, he carefully selects other, stronger, larger, fercer bugs that will wage a terrific warfare upon the first peats, and literally "eat 'em alive."

In this sense, Prof. Quayle, following the practices of his profession, resorts, in the interest of science, to "cannibalism"—the victory going to the "strongest." It is a fundamental theory of modern entomological research that every peat has still other enemies, in turn, that prey on it—and kill.

Prof. Quayle, who is a clever scientist, comes to Southern California from the University of California, where for the past five years he has been assistant professor of entomology. His efforts at Whittier will be devoted to looking after the insect pects that annoy the citrus growers and farmers generally. In Coachella Valley the melon aphis is after that crop, and growers report that they are bothered by the pest known technically as thrips. It causes the fruit to become spotted. The peat is working in the Redlands district to a certain extent, also in and around Porterville.

There is work to be done among the olive growers, too. Black scale has made its appearance, and is proving damaging. There are important groves in the San Fernando Valley that require immediate attention.

Danes Hall Keeper Caught by Police
After Frequent Complaints as to His Misconduct.

G. H. Adams, keeper of a dance hall on Main street near Sixth, was arrested last night for an act of depravity in his room above his notorious rendezvous. Complaints of his

Adams is a type of the dance-hall keeper that the police are trying to eliminate. He is about 50 years old.

"This State Committee has been organized to look after the interests of the California fruit growers, when proposed changes in the tariff are discussed in Congresa," said Secretary Wiggins, of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday. "There was the same fight on in 1897 when it was proposed to take off the tariff on fruits and nuts. Senator White, although a Democrat, worked might: and main to have a protective tariff placed on products raised in this State. We won but it was a hard struggla. The present State Committee is in no sense a political organization. It will endeavor to use its influence with Congress to prevent the removal of a tariff that insures prosperity for our orchardists and ranchers."

REDONDO, July 12.—W. H. This released the various attachments against the agency automobiles, horses and vehicles, used in the business of seiling lots on the Redondo Villa tract.

This action was in accordance with an understanding reached last week between the parties whereby Carlson agreed to pay the costs and a portion of the original demands, and receiving time on the balance. The details of the agreement were not made public, but it is said the creditors were satisfied of Carlson's willingness and ability to arrange his financial difficulties if given time.

CURED

My Original Methods Cure Every Case I Take For Treatment

I know exactly what to do to effect a thorough cure in every case that I accept for treatment. Though this is something that every specialist ought to know, it is rare knowledge, indeed. The hundreds of evidences of mistreatment that come beneath my observation prove the general lack of a clear understanding of men's diseases and their treatment. I have devoted 20 years to the study and treatment of the very few ailments constituting my specialty, and have acquired the knowledge and skill and developed the original and scientific methods that enable me to accomplish results such as no other physician anywhere has ever accomplished. I understand my work from first to last, know what to do and what not to do, and treat every case without the slightest idea of fallure. I positively confine my practice to the

DISEASES OF MEN

My practice has demonstrated that no ailment peculiar to men is incurable. Failure to cure is usually due to lack of knowledge and improper treatment. You may consult me free of charge and learn your exact condition. I will not urge my services, nor will I accept your case until I am positive of my ability to cure you.

Every patient who comes to me for treatment receives my personal attention. Though all my assistants are graduates of the best medical colleges, they act only under my supervision and assist me in minor work.

WEAKNESS

"Weakness" is not a nervous disorder, demanding a tonic system of treatment, but is merely a symptom of chronic inflammation or congestion. This condition exists as a result of some improperly treated contracted disorder, and requires carefully directed local measures only. My cures are permanent because the condition responsible for the functional disorder is entirely removed, and I am convinced that by no treatment other than my own carefully directed local measures is a radical cure of this ailment possible.

VARICOCELE—Cured Without Cutting

The time was when every man afflicted with varicoccie had no choice other than to allow the disease to go on undermining his power and health or submit to a surgical operation. Now he can choose a thorough cure by painless treatment. I cure varicoccie in one week, and it is seldom necessary that the patient be detained from his business even a single day. My method is original with myself, and is the only safe and successful treatment for varicoccie ever devised.

EXAMINATION FREE

I offer not only FREE consultation and advice, but of every case that comes to me I will make a careful examination and diagnosis without charge. No affing man should neglect this opportunity to get expert opinion about this trouble.

If you cannot call, write for Diagnosis Chart, My offices are open all day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sundays from 9 to 12.

A PALSE SENSE OF MODESTY OFTEN LEADS THE SUFFERER TO SEEK THE SERVICES OF UNRELIABLE, UNSKILLED PRETENDERS RATHER THAN A LEGITIMATE PHYSICIAN WHO DEVOTES HIS TIME AND ATTENTION TO THIS SPECIAL LINE OF WORK.
